Who am I:
- A researcher trying to make sense of this crazy universe of ours, currently looking at X-ray emission from the first stars that ever existed.
- An advocate for equity for everyone. I think we can only benefit from having as a diverse working environment as possible.

Advice to my younger self:
- Life is not a cook book. There is no recipe to follow. Salt to taste.
- Be kind and patient to yourself and others. Research takes time to bloom.
- Choose your battles.

A woman that inspires me:
You needn’t look far in the IoA: Carolin Crawford, Cathie Clarke, Angela Macharia, Anastasia Fialkov, Debora Sijacki... not to mention the amazing female Postdocs and PhD students we have! However the woman that has had the largest impact in my life is my mother Magali Duran.

Nina Sartorio